MILITIA POURS INTO BORDER

Theodore Roosevelt Withdraws From Presidential Race Urges All Progressives To Support Republican Ticket

State Troops Are En Route To Southland

Fifteen Thousand Guardsmen Expected To Be On Move To Reinforce General Funston For Boundary Service In Event of War With Mexico As Result of Carranza Break

Rupture Is Near

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

WASHINGTON, June 27.—While waiting for the answer of Carranza to the last note, demanding the repudiation of the attack upon the American Cavalry at Carrizal, and the immediate release of the American prisoners, Washington is busy getting as many troops to the border as possible. It is rushing the militia as speedily as possible to the scene of the anticipated action.

Last night it was announced that the authorities hope to have twenty-five thousand men on the border by the end of the week, and as fast as the state troops are being mobilized they are being sent south. Four batteries of the Oklahoma field artillery entrained for the border yesterday, and the Ninth Massachusetts Infantry, one of the famous regiments of the Old Bay State, also received its orders and started northward.

SEVERAL THOUSAND MEN ARE EN ROUTE

There are now on their way to the support of General Funston's regulars several thousand men, and others will follow today. In all, the Eastern Department, including New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Connecticut, Vermont, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, will send 15,000 men southward today.

Florida, Virginia, Maryland, Maine and the District of Columbia also will start militia troops toward the border this morning, and Pennsylvania and Delaware will follow immediately afterward.

The railroads of the country have received their orders to hasten the trains carrying these troops and they are to be rushed through without pause, save the changing of engines and crews, taking the right of way over everything on the line.

EMBARGO PUT ON ALL COMMERCE WITH MEXICO

The war department has ordered an embargo on all commerce between this country and Mexico, pending the development of the present crisis, and the watch from munitions and ammunition, which have been going across the line, has been doubled, and many of the shipments held up in Galveston and New Orleans and San Antonio, the principal shipping points for this class of supplies.

The state department, in a statement last night, announced that it had learned that the Mexican de facto government has been doing what it could to prevent the landing of Americans. The port officials on both coasts have been changing the port lights and the lighthouse signals, and have issued wireless warning to all ships off shore not to be guided by these lights, as they have been changed.

CARRANZISTA REPLY IS EXPECTED TODAY

While the reply from Carranza was expected yesterday, little disappointment was felt in the state department when it failed to arrive. It is regarded as almost certain, however, that the reply to President Wilson's last note will reach here today, although it is understood that the administration is prepared to wait even a little longer before taking any action.

The American troops under General Pershing have been withdrawn from one or two of the positions they have been holding in Mexico. The Carranzista soldiers under General Trevino are reported to have followed closely upon their heels, and when the Americans abandoned the towns of San Geronimo and Bachimba, the Mexicans occupied the places at once. General Trevino issued a statement in which he warned the Americans against attempting to move south again, declaring that such an attempt would be forcibly prevented.

BOYD HAD PERMISSION TO PASS CARRIZAL

Despatches from General Funston to the war department report that in the pocket of the coat found on the body of Capt. Charles T. Boyd, commander of the unfortunate detachment of the Tenth Cavalry, ambushed by the Mexicans at Carrizal, was found a copy of a note from General Gomez, giving permission to the Americans to go through Carrizal peacefully.

The President has arranged a possible joint session of the two houses of congress for later in the week, which he may address after receiving Carranza's reply.

The South and Central American republics have withdrawn their offer of mediation. Secretary Lansing said it was untimely. They may repeat it later.

The report of Capt. Lewis Mores, Troop L, Tenth Cavalry, on the attack by the Mexicans, strengthens the administration's position that the Mexicans were to blame for the Carrizal fight and its results. The administration is prepared to ask congress to authorize a military censorship, and the war department is speedily mobilizing the national guard and such regular troops as are available.

In the event of war it is planned to patrol the border by means of an aero service.

ALLIES CROWD TEUTONS HARD IN ALL ZONES OF GREAT WAR

Italians Assume Offensive In Trentino and Sweep Austrians Back Over Border, Making Gen- eral Retreat Almost Disaster

RUSSIANS CONTINUE THEIR DRIVE IN EAST

British Make Large Gains Against Germans At Western Front In France and Also Along Belgian Line, Where Fighting Is Heavy

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

LONDON, June 27.—The Italians are striking hard against the Austrians here, forcing the Teutons back over a front of more than twenty miles across the border of the Trentino. The retreat of the Austrians is general and is admitted by Vienna, which issued a statement saying that the retirement was "undertaken by our commanding generals in order to preserve our freedom of action."

The entire front in the Trentino is affected, and the Austrian retreat threatens to become a rout. The Italians are pressing on the heels of their enemy and already, it is claimed by despatches from Rome, much of the land lost during the recent drive of the Austrians in that sector has been regained.

Military experts declare that the Austrians have been compelled to weaken their lines by the successful assaults of the Russian columns in Galicia and the Trentino, and that the Italians have been able to take prompt advantage of this fact, and strike a succession of blows which appear to have broken down the Austrian defense and forced them back.

Italian Attack Brilliant

Between Brenta and Etsch the Italian attack has been brilliant and most successful, say the despatches from Rome, and it is here that Austria admits her greatest defeat.

In the Bukovina the Russians are still driving forward without pause, securing important positions as they go and consolidating their lines behind them. North of the little town of Kut, which they were reported as having captured last Saturday, the Austrians claim to have made a stand, and to have repulsed the Slavs. In the Kimpoling region, however, Petrograd claims to have made important gains, and the Austrians practically admit reverses in that district.

Fighting in Galicia has taken a new turn, according to the despatches last night. There for several days the Teutonic foe has held the Russian back at bay, but yesterday came the reports of additional Russian gains in the Dniester river region. "Here the Slavs have literally swept aside all opposition with their heavy cannon, breaking the deadlock imposed for so long by their German enemy, and crossing the river in the face of a fearful fire. Losses have been frightful."

Attacking in massed formation, their loss is said to have been frightful but Petrograd says the importance of the advance and captures that followed it, compensated these losses. They have taken the villages of Sickerghine and Petrove.

In the Volhynia, both Vienna and Petrograd report heavy fighting and Vienna declares that the Germans have stormed Russian positions three thousand meters wide, and have withstood heavy counter-attacks made by the Slavs. Along the Styry river front the Germans are said to be bombarding the Russians and to be launching heavy infantry attacks, which Petrograd claims have been repulsed. The Germans are declared to be using their favorite massed formation methods, seeking to break through the Russian lines by sheer weight, and have, as a consequence, lost tremendously.

From north of the Pripiet Marshes to Jacobstadt there has been intense artillery bombardments from both sides, the consumption of ammunition having been prodigious, according to the reports from Berlin and Petrograd.

German Attacks Break Down

Officers arriving at Kiev, Russia, from the front, and whose reports have been cabled here, describe the breaking down of all German attacks at the Stockhol river by the Russians. The German reserves were hurled back and the Russians are advancing.

The German prisoners compare the Russian gunfire to an inferno of shot and shell similar to that which has torn the Verdun line for many weeks.

Both Paris and Berlin report a general slackening of the fighting around Verdun. Even the artillery fire, which

STRIKE TENSION GROWING TIGHTER IN COAST PORTS

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 27.—Mediator White, representing the federal department of labor, announced last night that he has been forced to defer the call for a conference between the strikers and the employers in the big longshoremen's struggle for more money and a closed shop.

He was waiting, he said, for the action of the stevedores' union, on the compromise proposed in union circles. It was freely intimated in union circles that the proposal will prove unacceptable because it does not include increased pay for the warehouse workers and lumber handlers, who have become affiliated with the longshoremen's union.

Appeal To Governor

The labor council sent an appeal to Governor Hiram W. Johnson yesterday asking him to compel the strike-breakers and the guards employed by the shipowners, to discontinue carrying weapons. They declare that these men are going armed in plain violation of the law, and that the local police are doing nothing to stop the practice.

The effect of the strike is being felt in the East, according to despatches from the larger Eastern cities, and the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Los Angeles announced through its secretary last night that it had received offers of ten thousand men to act as strike-breakers, from Eastern sources.

No Violence In City

There has been no violence in this city, and but little in San Pedro, San Diego or Portland, and that of a minor nature, but three strikers on the Tacoma waterfront were shot down yesterday during a fight that is said to have been started by the men. The men were seriously wounded, and one of them, John Mow, has been removed to a hospital, dangerously hurt.

The strikers are reported to have rushed the guards at the Sperry Flour Mills, and rushed those on the deck of the steamer Santa Cruz, which was tied up at the dock, loading.

Strike Breakers Beaten

A number of the strike-breakers were badly beaten up, and some of the other employees of the company also were injured before the arrival of the police put an end to the rioting. The strikers escaped, taking with them their injured comrades.

Former Justice Hughes Gives Praise To Colonel For His Principals

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

CHICAGO, June 27.—Theodore Roosevelt will not run for President on the Progressive ticket. He has definitely resigned and has asked the Progressives who followed him in 1912, and again in 1916, to vote for Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee for the presidency, because the colonel believes that Wilson should be defeated.

In compliance with the written request from the Progressive leader the national committee of that party yesterday voted, thirty-two to six, to endorse Hughes, and to call upon all members of the Bull Moose party to support the Republican candidate. Nine members of the committee refused to cast their votes, declaring that the committee was exceeding its authority in taking that step.

The letter from Colonel Roosevelt, announcing his determination not to run, and calling upon his supporters to rally to the support of the Republican candidate, was read at a meeting of the committee. He had already given his "conditional refusal" to the nomination, immediately after it was offered to him by the Progressive convention.

SAN ANTONIO, June 26.—Notes found in the pocket of Captain Boyd contained a copy of a note sent by the authorities of Carrizal, giving the United States troops permission to pass through the town on a peaceful mission.

HUGHES LAUDS ROOSEVELT'S STAND

NEW YORK, June 27.—In a formal statement issued last night, it was announced that Mr. Hughes had wired his acceptance of the Progressive support to the Progressive National Committee in Chicago, and had also wired to Oscar King Davis, secretary of that committee, welcoming the support of the Bull Moose party, and arraigning the administration of President Wilson for its gross "weakness and ineptitude."

Later in the day Mr. Hughes made public a letter to former President Roosevelt, in which he declares that "the nation owes you a debt of gratitude, for quickening its national spirit and for demanding, through good and ill repute out-and-out, one hundred per cent Americanism."

TORREON GREASERS ATTACK AND WRECK YANKEE CONSULATE

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless.)

EAGLE PASS, Texas, June 27.—The consulate of the United States at Torreon, Mexico, was completely demolished by a mob during an anti-American demonstration, June 18, according to refugees from that place, who reached here yesterday.

The people of Torreon were at the bull fight, when a number of Carranza soldiers entered and compelled large numbers of the crowd to join a rapidly forming mob, which was shouting "down with the Gringos," and "death to the Gringos."

Leaving the bullring the mob, headed by the soldiers, proceeded to the central plaza of the city, where a huge mass-meeting was formed. It was addressed by the alcalde of the city, and a number of prominent citizens.

With one accord the speakers demanded the expulsion of all Americans from Mexico, and stirred the mob to a fresh frenzy, by urging the people to drive the Americans out of the city and out of the country.
